Snakes of East Africa.
For one thing, East Africa must have credit; snakes are not numerous, as they are in the south, at least I never have seen many. There are pythons, but they do not appear to be dangerous. I shall never forget how, down in South Africa during the war, I once awoke and found a black mamba in bed with me.

This snake is absolutely deadly. It frightened me so that after the whole thing was over I went out and was sick. Fortunately I was quite ignorant of the fact that it was under the blankets with me and rolled out unconcernedly. Had I known it was there, in all probability it would have struck me.—Forest and Stream.

Biggest Noses, Worst Colds.
"One thing I have noticed," said the ear and nose specialist, "is that people with the biggest noses have the worst colds in town. I don't know which is cause and which is effect; whether the nose is big because a succession of severe colds has extended the cartilage or whether the colds are heavy because the nose affords such ample breeding space. The one thing I am sure of is that the combination prevails."

SEPARATED MILK FOR CALVES

Youngster That Sucks Cow Does Well Until Weaned—Sweet Skimmed Milk Makes Bone and Sinew.

There is no doubt but that calves do exceedingly well on separated milk. The calf that sucks the cow will do well until weaning time comes, but the calf that gets its warm, fresh, separated milk will flourish the whole year round. For the sake of a few more pounds of butter the calf is often starved to a gaunt, unsightly little dwarf and never comes to maturity.

Fed on Separated Milk.

and is always poor property to its owner. By allowing it fresh, warm milk from the separator you will have a big, strong calf in such a condition that will give the best results for the extra care and labor, the same as other stock kept in a thriving condition. Sweet skimmed milk makes bone and sinew for the calf. We are looking after the calf that is to be raised to maturity and there are cheaper foods than 25-cent butter fat upon which to raise calves. That is, buy centrifugal cream separators, if you do not have one already, and feed your calves the milk as soon as run through the separator, while it yet contains the animal heat and in the condition just suited to the needs of the calf. We believe that every farmer who keeps from three to ten good cows and wishes to grow good calves will find it to his advantage to buy a good cream separator and use it intelligently.

COMMON SENSE WITH MEDICINE

In Treating Ills of Live Stock Judgment Must Be Mixed With the Drugs Administered.

In handling livestock and treating livestock ills, much common sense must be mixed with medicine. In fact, many minor animal ills may be cured without resorting to medicine. The writer has a mare that became stiff and lame in one front leg last winter. We were told all sorts of things were the matter with her, and many remedies were prescribed. We had been away from home for a few weeks and found that the mare had lost the shoe from the lame foot and that she had been confined in her stall nearly all of the time.

To reduce soreness, the leg was bathed in a water solution of salt and vinegar, slightly warm. Each night and morning the leg and shoulder were given a good, brisk rubbing to stimulate good circulation of blood. The mare resented the treatment at first, but soon willingly permitted it and afterward seemed to enjoy it. The lameness and stiffness began to gradually disappear and she was practically well within two weeks. During this time she was worked lightly almost daily and allowed outside freedom when weather permitted. Keeping the blood flowing through exercise and rubbing effected the cure, we believe.

The End of Self-Defense.
I say the mission of government henceforth in civilized lands is not repression alone and not authority alone, not even of law, nor the rule of the best men—but to train communities through all their grades, beginning with individuals and ending there again, to rule themselves.—Walt Whitman.

The Secret of Holding a Successful Auction Sale.

THE SEASON of auctions will soon be here, and during the next four months many thousands of dollars worth of farm property will be sold at public sales in The Record's territory.

The prices at all these sales will depend on various circumstances and conditions, but they will depend largely on how the sale is advertised. A sale insufficiently advertised cannot possibly produce the BEST results; A SALE WELL ADVERTISED will always succeed, unless the weather prevents holding it.

The New and the Old Way.

In the old days, when circulations were small and it was impossible to reach all the people through the newspapers, it was necessary to use auction bills. But that day is gone by. Advertising is so cheap and so wonderfully effective, that the auction bill is rapidly becoming a back number.

In this territory the use of advertising space in The Record is rapidly superseding auction bills, just as it has altogether superseded the use of bills by merchants.

Why is this?

The Reason Why.

THE BILL reaches only a few hundred; The Record reaches 10,000 readers.

THE BILL covers only a limited section; The Record covers a large territory thoroughly.

THE BILL is seen only by the people when they are away from home; The Record goes into their homes and finds them.

THE BILL is not seen in bad weather, because the people stay at home; that is just the time The Record is read more carefully.

THE BILL makes the busy man stop when he is in a hurry, in the wind and cold, and maybe take out his spectacles; The Record finds him at home, in a comfortable chair leisurely reading his paper.

THE BILL must be tacked up and distributed—a day or two of hard work for a man with a rig. The Record distributes the same information to nearly every house all at the same time, without trouble or extra cost.

THE GREAT AUCTION PAPER.

Remember, it is not enough to simply put your ad. in some newspaper. It must be in a paper that reaches the PEOPLE YOU WISH TO INTEREST IN YOUR SALE, and one which covers the WHOLE TERRITORY. It is astonishing how far men will go to attend a sale and bid on some particular property advertised; these are the very men you want to reach, for they come to do business and not from curiosity.

You Have Only One Chance.

Bear in mind that all your goods are going to be sold in ONE day, and on that day depends whether you make or lose perhaps several hundred dollars. A few dollars' expense is absolutely nothing at all compared with the importance of advertising your sale RIGHT.

You Cannot Take Chances on Scrimping on Your Advertising.

How to Hold a Successful Auction.

If you are interested in auction sales write or ask The Record for free proof of what Record advertising will do.

We have advertised hundreds of sales the modern way and have not had ONE dissatisfied customer. Doesn't that mean something.

Disgusted Veteran Author.

Many years ago a youthful man of letters arrived at Etretat with a letter of introduction of Alphonse Karr. He had been particularly told of Karr's passionate love of the sea; and, finding the author of "Genevieve" seated on the beach, mending a net, he immediately began an enthusiastic outburst of commonplace about the grandeur of the ocean. "Monsieur," interrupted Karr, "I love the sea; we have lived together a long time. But if you have come all the way from Paris to disgust me with it, I can only say it is a wicked thing to do."
